WHAT AND HOW...

FUTOSHIKI is a logic puzzle game that is similar to Sudoku, but with a twist. The game is played on a square grid that is partially filled with numbers. The objective is to fill the empty squares with numbers from 1 to the size of the grid, while satisfying certain rules. The rules dictate that no two numbers can be the same in a row or a column, and that the numbers must satisfy the inequality signs (< and >) that are placed between some of the squares.

FUTOSHIKI puzzles come in various sizes and levels of difficulty, often requiring the use of logic and deductive reasoning to solve. The puzzles can be found in puzzle books, newspapers, and online. FUTOSHIKI is a popular puzzle game enjoyed by people of all ages around the world.
