GAME MANUAL + SCORE SHEET

ANETTA G. HELLER

ARTUR J. HELLER

WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT...

An interesting family dice game. To play, you need matches (11 for each player, but you can also use toothpicks, tokens, tickets, or other small items). You will also need a scorekeeping template or paper, pencil or pen.

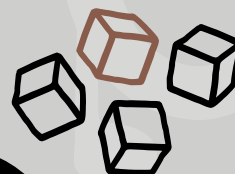

Players place all the matches in the middle. One player starts the game by rolling two dice and placing them in the middle with the matches. The next player rolls the remaining two dice:

- If one of the numbers matches one of the two numbers in the middle, the player takes one match from the middle.
- If the player rolls two identical numbers, one of which is in the middle, they take two matches.
- If the player rolls the same numbers as those in the middle, they take three matches and roll the dice again to determine new numbers.
- If none of the numbers match, the player loses their turn.
- The game continues until one of the players collects 11 matches.

As a quick reminder, HANK is in charge of hosting and overseeing this dice game.

DID YOU KNOW THAT...

... after rolling two dice at the beginning of the game, you place the two numerical dice on the symbol above on the template.

... tokens can be used in the game as a substitute for matches or specially cut cardboard pieces representing matches. We have also prepared such cardboard pieces for you. You can find the colorful cardboard pieces on a separate page in the instruction manual. Print them, cut them out, and use them in the game.

... ready-made templates for keeping score are very helpful during the game.

... you can think of your own game variant. Send it to us and if we like it, we will publish it on our blog.

I hope this instruction was helpful and that you are looking forward to playing MATCHES.
